

THE NEW ENGLAND QUARTERLY

A Historical Review of New England Life and Letters

December 2020

Articles

“this vally of Dry boons”: Elizabeth Peck’s Plea to George Whitefield

Tucker Adkins

Thomas Hutchinson’s Enemies List: Unmasking Conspiracy and Wickedness in the Patriot Cause

John W. Tyler

Plimoth at 400:

“after Mr. Robinson’s pattern”: Plymouth and the shaping of the New England Way

Francis J. Bremer

Plymouth Plantation’s Place in the Atlantic World

Carla Gardina Pestana

Ungrateful Children and Days of Mourning: Two Wampanoag Interpretations of the “First Thanksgiving” and Colonialism through the Centuries

David J. Silverman

The Yoke of Bondage: Slavery in Plymouth Colony

John G. Turner

Book Reviews

Pursuing Respect in the Cannibal Isles, by Nancy Shoemaker
Jennifer L. Anderson

Workers on Arrival: Black Labor in the Making of America, by Joe William Trotter Jr.

Bruce E. Baker

American Catholics: A History, by Leslie Woodcock Tentler
Timothy Matovina

The Self-Help Compulsion: Searching for Advice in Modern Literature, by Beth Blum

Joan Shelley Rubin

Broken Bargain: Bankers, Bailouts, and the Struggle to Tame Wall Street, by Lawrence B. Glickman

American Capitalism: New Histories, edited by Sven Beckert and Christine Desan

Michael Yogg